This program is offered by the School of Global Studies and Languages, where students engage with diverse cultures, languages, histories, and ways of life from around the world. Graduates leave with the skills necessary for successful careers in the global sector.

Points of Interest

- Immerse yourself in French and French-speaking cultures—experience the magic of a study abroad program in Europe, Africa, or Quebec.
- Earn UO credit for a Participatory Learning Experience, a bilingual internship program that allows students to use French language skills as volunteers in Lane County.
- Practice your language skills in the Cercle Français, casual weekly gatherings of speakers with varying abilities and experiences.
- Apply for an internship in a foreign country. French majors have found great international internships, including with a ski manufacturer and a vineyard in France, a biodiversity research institute in Gabon, and as English language assistants in French schools.
