Degree overview:

From birth to second grade, early life experiences have a lasting impact on later success. Our bachelor's of science in early childhood education was created to support the development of all young children, including those who are culturally, linguistically, and ability diverse, with a focus on using developmentally effective approaches to build a meaningful curriculum for our youngest learners. The Early Childhood Education program leads to a bachelor's degree and the New York State Initial Teaching Certificate in early childhood education.

An Education degree can help you develop your skills in the vast field of education services. Subjects include Adolescent Education, American Sign Language, Childhood Studies, Special and Inclusive Education, and the Teaching of English to Speakers of a Second Language (TESOL). With a degree in Education, you could work as:

- Early Years Teacher
- English Teacher
- Educational Administrator
- Special Needs Teacher
- Secondary School Teacher
- Lecturer
