Additional information

MSc Psychology: Specialize in Coaching & Counseling

You already have a Bachelor's degree and are interested in an in-depth Master's in psychology? Would you like to work in consulting, human resources management or as a self-employed coach? Our fully English-taught Psychology Master's programme with a focus on Coaching and Counseling allows you to do so. This degree is exclusively offered at our Berlin campus.

Apart from choosing the English-taught specialisation "Coaching and Counseling", students that are applicable to study in German can also choose another focus area: "Clinical, rehabilitation and gerontological psychology". However, this specialisation is currently only offered in German.

This degree programme enables you to start a career in psychological coaching and counseling. At UE, we also offer a fully German-taught MSc Clinical Psychology (with a focus on Rehabilitation and Gerontopsychology). If you are interested in becoming a psychotherapist, please speak to an advisor, since this would require a different path.

What happens after your studies?

Our MSc in Psychology is designed to deepen your understanding of psychology, especially in the field of coaching and counseling. After completing your Master's degree in Psychology, you will find career opportunities as a psychologist in the following areas:

- Consulting in business and industry
- Coaching private individuals
- Business coaching
- Counseling for private and public institutions
