The Art and Cultural Management Doctorate Programme will develop creative projects and innovative approaches at national and international levels in the changing artistic, cultural, economic and social environment, and will make decisions in line with the participation, sharing and, at the same time, sustainability of contemporary cultural and artistic institutions, and aims to train future professional art and culture managers who can contribute to the development of the art environment. Our doctorate programme is the first and only doctoral programme in the region in the field of art and cultural management.

Our programme offers a broad perspective for the provision of all kinds of innovative knowledge in order to examine and discuss the production and management relationships in this sector with the cultural and artistic infrastructure and institutions, and to develop creative approaches that includes many studies from museum management, curatorial work, art-culture management, cultural politics, arts and cultural management.

Career Opportunities

Our Art and Cultural Management doctorate programme aims to train qualified people to work in public and private institutions serving in the field of art and culture both in our country and in the world, to increase the number of art and cultural management graduates who will take part in the art market, as well as being a pioneer in the training of academicians and theorists who will contribute to the field with their scientific studies.
