Additional information

Overview

The job market creates numerous employment opportunities for graduates, especially in:

- small, medium, and large companies engaged in activities related to their respective specialties, such as manufacturing, services, consulting institutions, international corporations, market research, and advertising agencies, PR agencies,
- local government and state government units (both central and regional), as well as their economic entities,
- non-profit institutions.

Master studies are a natural continuation of undergraduate studies. Thanks to UTA, you can obtain a master's degree within the same university's walls, allowing you to better prepare for the professional challenges that the job market will present to you.

Career opportunities

Graduates of the studies will be characterized by creativity and flexibility, demonstrating an innovative and open attitude towards new solutions, and they will be able to apply the acquired knowledge in practice and adapt it to the needs of the changing job market.

The interpersonal skills acquired during the studies will allow graduates to skillfully and effectively organize and lead teamwork, as well as communicate effectively on specialized topics with diverse audiences, and also negotiate and persuade.

Second-degree graduates in Management will be prepared to work in positions such as:

- specialists in management systems,
- middle and senior-level managers, advisors and consultants in economic or public organizations,
- running your own business.
