

University of Greenwich

Politics and International Relations

Study details

Course type: Bachelor's degree

Degree: BA (Hons) Politics and International Relations

Study mode: Full time

Duration: 36 Month

Cost of study

Cost : 16 895 GBP

Reg. fee : N/A GBP

Scholarship :

Insurance : N/A GBP

Intake/s

Jan/Sep

Requirements

Country specific academic qualifications:

- Achieving Certificate of Secondary General Education with a minimum grade of 8
- UKVI IELTS minimum 5.5 with no less than 5.5 in each skill

Accommodation

With a range of comfortable and modern rooms close to campus, the University of Greenwich provides high-quality accommodation perfectly suited to your needs.

- Free Internet and Wi-Fi across all locations
- 24/7 residential support
- All utility bills included
- Contents insurance is included

Speciality

If you do not meet the requirements for your chosen programme you can choose to study 1 or 2 terms of English language preparation beforehand.

IY0 (Social Sciences & Law)

Additional information

Degree Overview

If you are intrigued to know why people vote the way they do or why political systems differ, this degree in politics and international relations gives you the answers. Through this course you will study international and comparative politics, government, and political theory. This programme will also give you the chance to study a language. In your final year, you may be offered a work placement in regional or local politics. Popular careers for politics and international relations graduates include public service, information and communications, teaching, and roles in central and local government.

Study Reasons

- Get the chance to explore the politics of Asia and Africa, Liberalism, political conspiracy, international relations and security from social and political perspectives
- You will have the option to specialise in Politics and International Relations and take options in other subjects
- Graduates of this course have gone on to careers in public service, information and communications, and media and voluntary sectors, as well as in the National Health Service, teaching, research, business, and central and local government. Some career options may require further study.