Additional information

Degree Overview

The International Banking and Finance MSc course is a combination of study of the different banking systems and international markets, recognising the globalised and dynamic modern banking industry. Through this course you'll explore the role of finance in business, considering effective financial management, corporate governance and business ethics. You'll also emerge with the knowledge, technical skills, creativity and ethical values required to perform effectively in key management and strategic roles and to become a competent practitioner. This master's degree will leave you well-positioned for graduate roles in retail and investment banking, treasury functions and academic research. You'll gain a competitive edge with an advanced and critical understanding of theoretical frameworks and applied aspects of banking, financial regulation, financial markets, risk management and corporate financial management.
