Degree Overview

If you are interested in analysing effective marketing strategies and have the ambition to be an expert in the field of communications, this double degree will suit you perfectly.

Throughout this four-year degree, you will cover various subjects such as Consumer Behaviour, Corporate Public Relations, Integrated Marketing Communications, Professional Writing, Media and Society, Media Ethics and Law, and more.

The degree's Marketing and Public Relations component provides you with a holistic and comprehensive skill set, making you especially valuable to employers. The Bachelor of Communications & Media lets you explore the principles and techniques of communications and media by examining and creating print, non-print, and multimedia texts using traditional, new, and emerging media technologies.

You can tailor the program to your particular interest by majoring in Journalism, Film and Screen Production or Photography.

Combining these two degrees will bring together your creative and inquiring mind with marketing expertise and practical skills to help you succeed in many fields of employment or entrepreneurship.

As part of this double degree, you will undertake 150 hours of practical workplace experience as part of the Business Internship course, which will provide valuable on-the-job experience, interaction with professional practitioners and a network of contacts.
