Degree overview:

After graduating with the BS in Biology degree, you can find work in laboratory settings as biotechnology or laboratory technicians at universities, research centers, or pharmaceutical companies. Our coursework has a required minimum of eleven laboratory courses, and as such, employers compete for our extensively trained students. The BS in Biology degree also prepares you for professional schools such as medical, dental, osteopathy, or veterinary medicine, or for graduate master's and PhD programs. Individualized advising, including a dedicated pre-med advisory committee, and a pre-health professions advisor, ensure our students are on track. Some other career options for our students include science communication, advertising, government jobs, biotechnology, patent law and many others.

Choose a Science and Health degree to receive a solid grounding in any of the main scientific disciplines, and learn why sciences are fundamental to everyday life.
