Career Opportunities

Graduates of the Full Stack Development Diploma will be equipped to build both web and mobile applications using modern tools like Angular, C#, Blazor, and .MAUI. With these advanced skills, you'll be prepared for senior positions in coding and web development, opening doors to exciting new opportunities.

Web development is one of Ireland's most in-demand skills, with developers making up over 21% of tech roles. As demand outpaces supply, the average salary for developers is €55,000, with opportunities available both in Ireland and globally.
