Additional information

Overview

The MSc Business with International Management programme will build upon your current business knowledge and develop your professional & personal skills, which are essential for a wide variety of managerial-level roles.

This part-time programme is open to students from both business and non-business academic backgrounds, and will cover aspects of international business, strategic management, innovation, leadership, business decision-making, and organisational analysis. These will develop your strategic awareness, leadership potential and understanding of the theory and practice of international business and management.

Key facts

- Develop your wider management knowledge and leadership skills in semester 1 and specialise in International Management in the second semester.
- Delivered over 2 years in part-time mode (equivalent to 14.5 weekends).
- Apply your learning in international business within a realistic simulated environment and use this experience as a tool to develop your skills as a future manager, team shaper, and strategic-level decision maker.

- Strategise and problem-solve in studio-based sessions where you will work dynamically with your team to design innovative responses to business scenarios.
- Also available full-time, or as MSc Business with International Management with Advanced Practice which includes doing one out of the four options of a Master's Internship, Consultancy Study, Enterprise Business Start up, or Practical Skills Study.
- Newcastle Business School is accredited by the prestigious Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB). According to AACSB, "Approximately 6% of the world's schools offering business degree education have achieved AACSB accreditation, demonstrating a commitment to high-quality, rigorous standards, innovation, and continuous process improvement."

What will I study?

On this part-time programme you will develop your strategic awareness, leadership potential, and understanding of the theory and practice of international business and management. In the second semester, you will have the opportunity to specialise in international management by taking our specialist modules where you will consider issues of business ethics and accountability, the role played by corporate governance, and develop your knowledge of strategic marketing models.

You will also benefit from the opportunity to apply your learning in international business within a realistic simulated environment, and in the first module "Leadership and Management in Professional Practice" you will have a 2-day residential event where you will participate in a variety of practical activities and deal with complex scenarios.

How will I be taught and assessed?

- As this programme is a part-time course, it will have flexible delivery modes.
- Teaching is delivered through workshops, tutorials, directed study, and discussion forums totalling around 24 hours per module.
- You're also expected to engage in independent study, around 30 hours per week.
- Assessment is based on a mix of assignments, presentations, group work, reflective reports, and portfolios.
- You will be taught by experienced lecturers and academics who use their industry experience to demonstrate how theories translate into real-life situations.
- Technology Enhanced Learning (TEL) is embedded throughout the course with tools such as the 'Blackboard' eLearning Portal.
- Benefit from weekly academic support sessions designed to build your confidence and ability as a postgraduate learner.
- You will be assigned a guidance tutor at induction that you will have meetings with at regular intervals across your period of study.
