Degree Overview

The Allied Health Sciences program at UConn prepares students for fulfilling careers in a variety of health care fields. With a degree in Allied Health Sciences, our graduates work in many diverse settings from hospitals and laboratories to research institutions and within communities. As part of an interdisciplinary team, our students help prevent, diagnose, treat, and educate patients to improve health and quality of life.

With programs at UConn Storrs and UConn Waterbury, allied health students gain a firm foundation with a focus on experiential learning, personalized advising, and a diverse curriculum. Whether the next step is graduate school or the workforce, we're excited to prepare our students for future success.
