Additional information

This degree focuses on business, social enterprise and management within the sports industry and is endorsed by CIMSPA (Chartered Institute for Management of Sport and Physical Activity). The course aligns with the Professional Standards to achieve CIMSPA's Aspiring Manager (Leisure Operations) accreditation, enabling the development of work ready graduates.

You'll study a combination of management topics including marketing, business start-up, human resources as well as event organisation, sport governance, social and cultural issues, health and safety and contemporary and global trends to develop a thorough and critical understanding of sport industry issues and theory.

There is also the option to specialise in one of three pathways in year two and three.
