Additional information

Degree Overview

This programme is for students who are looking to build on their previous study in accounting, finance, or relevant business discipline.

Throughout the course, we'll explore the links between different aspects of accounting, finance, management, and strategy, drilling down into accounting standards and the impact of leading standard-setting authorities, as well as international capital markets and topical issues in finance.

It will expose you to contemporary debates and demonstrate how to apply theory to real-world issues in accounting, finance, management, and strategy. It will also demonstrate the challenges involved in applying these theories.
