Additional information

Further information

The curriculum seamlessly combines business studies with language learning. Most emphasis is placed on the understanding of English-language financial and accounting terms that are key to your capability of providing financial services to global customers. Your practical training is ensured by interactive seminars and classes that make up 60% of the workload.

Our students have ample opportunities to work placements and internships with major finance market players.

Students in the Finance and Accounting program can join the student science society “Profit” that offers opportunities to attend additional training events, workshops, seminars, and conferences as well as to take part in local and national student-led initiatives.
